Usha Janome Marvela vs Dream Stitch – Which Sewing Machine is the Best

Dream Stitch Vs Marvela Stitch Functions

Both Sewing machines have exact identical features except the following two.

- Difference in Stitch Functions in the above image.
- The Marvela consumes less electricity as it is a 60W sewing machine, whereas the Dream Stitch consumes more electricity as it is a 75W Sewing Machine. So, a difference of 15 watts.

So you can choose any of them which has a low price. When we are writing this blog post, Usha Janome Marvela Blue and Usha Janome Dream Stitch have the same price. However, Usha Janome Marvela Pink price has a higher price than the former two. If the difference in 15 watts of energy can make you significantly save on your electricity bill, then you can go with Marvela. However, 15 watts does not seem to create much difference.

It could be possible that Usha will discontinue the Usha Janome Dream Stitch product line, so they have launched Marvela.
